2.1 Name of Creator

Moravian Church in the Eastern West Indies: the Provincial Elders' Conference (central administration) and the individual churches

2.2 Administrative / Biographical History

In 1732 Moravians established a mission among enslaved Africans on the Caribbean island of St. Thomas. Soon Moravian missions began on other islands: St. Croix (1740), St. John (1754), Jamaica (1754), Antigua (1756), Barbados (1765), St. Kitts (1777), Tobago (1790/1827), Trinidad (1890), and the Dominican Republic (1907).

In 1879 the General Synod in Herrnhut declared the Moravian work in the West Indies a mission province, with its own administration and less dependent on financial contributions from the Mission Board in Herrnhut. Soon this large province was split into two: Jamaica was to be its own mission province, while the other islands formed the province of the Eastern West Indies (EWI). In 1963 EWI became an independent province of the Moravian Church.

2.3 Archival History

In the early 1960s Moravians in the Caribbean expressed great concern about the state of their church records. These records were stored under abominable conditions in church attics, parsonages, and office buildings. The extended exposure to a humid and warm climate had done significant damage to the records and there was the constant risk of hurricanes, earth quakes, and fires. As a result, Rev. Vernon H. Nelson, archivist at the Bethlehem Moravian Archives from 1961 until 2004, visited the Caribbean in December 1964 and January 1965 to survey the records in their various locations. After his visit, the Synod of the Moravian Church in the Eastern West Indies of 1966 approved to deposit the records in the Bethlehem archives. In 1968 the records were shipped to Kennedy Airport in New York, where archivist Nelson picked them up and transported them to Bethlehem.

The records were transferred from the PEC office in Antigua and the various churches throughout the EWI Province in 1968; in 1973 and 1974 additional records were transferred (reference codes starting with W.I.). Lothar Madeheim organized the records and compiled a card index. This card index was transferred into Augias by June Lacke in 2005. Madeheim's card index did not include the transfer of 1973; these have been added in December of 2015.

Even before the EWI Province officially decided to send records to Bethlehem, some material had been sent already. During the 1950s, Colin Williams (1922-1959), superintendent and warden of the St. Croix Conference as well as treasurer of the E.W.I. Province, sent 51 letters received from the UEC 1770-1821 to the Archives in Bethlehem.

Thanks to a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) the entire EWI collection was assessed in 2015 for its value for the study of the humanities. Condition reports, treatment plans and cost estimates were created for each item by the Conservation Center in Philadelphia. Based on the outcome of the assessment other grants were awarded. In 2018-2019 a selection of records from Antigua was digitized as part of the project "Archiving Antigua:: A Digital Record of Pre- and Post-Emancipation Antigua, 1760-1948," funded by the Council of Library and Information Science (CLIR). In 2019 a selection of items were preserved and digitized with funding from the NEH.

In connection with the various grant projects, the descriptions of the items will be reviewed and updated where necessary.

A.103.6 "Register of the Brethren's Congregation at Lebanon"

Membership catalog for the Moravian congregation at Lebanon, Antigua, 1829 - 1956.

The reference number is the number on the left of the title.

In order to request or cite items, you need the name/abbreviation of the record group and the reference number

Includes: administrative number, former place and number, name, status (if single, widow(er) or name of partner), date of baptism, c.r. (church reception), c.c. (candidate for communion) or sp[ectator], c.t. (communicant), church office, exclusions, date of death, place of burial.

Fragments previously cataloged under A.103.7 have been integrated into this volume.

It appears that this volume was pasted together from two different sources at an early time. The volume starts out with a section the men (nos. 1-386). A women's section (starting with a blank page after no. 386, nos. 1-955) has been pasted into the men's section. After the women's section, the men's section (incl. the right-hand page for nos. 360-386) continues (no. 387-772).

Beginning with no. 773 the catalog is kept for both men and women. From here on, each entry has two numbers; the higher number is possibly the continuation of the (missing?) women's catalog. The system of double numbering ends with 1940/985 and continues with the (lower) number 986.

Multiple mistakes are made with the numbering: 1043 is followed by 1444; a numbering mistake is corrected from number 1525=1531 to 1554=1560; again a number mistake is corrected from 1465=1565 to 1499=1600. After no. 1645 several pages were kept blank before no. 1646 continues. The number 2000 was misread as "1000", so it continues with no. 1001. No. 1635 is followed by 1936 and no. 1947 is followed by 2648.

A.1.11 Speaking book, containing a membership catalog of male members of Spring Gardens Moravian Church in St. John's, Antigua, 1839 - 1844.

The reference number is the number on the left of the title.

In order to request or cite items, you need the name/abbreviation of the record group and the reference number

Includes an alphabetically arranged membership catalog of male church members, whose first names begin with the letters F, G, H, I, J, K, and L. The membership catalog includes the following data: name of individual, administrative church number, date of baptism, denomination of baptism, date of first communion, date of spectating communion, date received as a member, date received as a candidate for communion, "abode" or place of residence, helper (lay pastor) associated with the individual, parentage or spouse, recitations, missionary subscription, and remarks regarding communion services, speakings, and exclusions.

Inscription in pen on the front outside cover of the volume misleadingly reads, "E-R | Congregation Members | Men." Rather than including first names that begin with the letter E, as the front outside cover suggests, this volume begins with the letter F; at some point in time, pages for the letter E were removed and sewn into EWI A.1.10. The volume also stops at names beginning with the letter L, not R.

This item is part of a digitization project, "Archiving Antigua," funded by a Digitizing Hidden Special Collections and Archives grant from the Council on Library and Information Resources (CLIR). It was digitized by the Conservation Center for Art and Historic Artifacts (CCAHA).

- Friedensfeld (Field of Peace) was the third Moravian mission on St. Croix. In 1807, the Brethren acquired six acres from Estate Mon Bijou. Although a foundation stone was laid in 1807, construction was delayed due to the disruptions caused by the 1807-1815 British occupation of the Virgin Islands, a result of Denmark allying with Great Britain's enemy, Emperor Napoleon I of France. The church was completed and dedicated on February 12, 1819. By 1854, the church had a congregation of more than 2,000, and today, the building is still used by a small and active congregation.
